After growing up in Tucson, AZ and finding love with first wife Carol he started his living in the trucking industry which lasted for better part of 30 years.

Steve eventually ended up in Broken Arrow, Ok where he married his wife Jerri and he worked at a plumbing company for several years. During his later years he moved to Missouri where he spent his last days. He was full of stories of his past, some true some not lol. But you had to listen just the same, he was always happy to have company and loved going out to eat mexican food. He will be greatly missed by all that knew him. RIP
