“ Jackie Lyn Taylor, age 67, passed away on Sunday, May 31, 2026, at Solace House in Joplin, Missouri.

Jackie was born in Dallas, Texas, and spent many years there raising her family, building a life, and giving herself to the people she loved. Dallas was more than the place she came from; it was where many of the memories that shaped her family were made, where her children grew, and where her heart was poured into the sacred work of motherhood.

Although Jackie worked as a Director of Care in assisted living centers, caring for others with compassion, patience, and devotion, those who knew her best understood that her greatest calling was not found in a job title. Her greatest calling was being Mom. That was the role she treasured most. That was the place where she truly shined.

Jackie leaves behind her three children, Kasey Taylor, Kelsey Kellar, and Keven Taylor; her two granddaughters, Ryan Lynn Taylor and Taylor Grace Kellar; her brother, Jerry Lamb; and her niece, Jessica Marquis. She also leaves behind a legacy that cannot be captured by dates alone: the sound of her voice, the memory of her presence, the lessons she gave, the love she carried, and the place she will always hold in the hearts of her family.

Her family will remember her not only for the work she did, but for the life she lived as a mother and grandmother. They will remember the woman who loved them, the woman who tried, the woman who endured, and the woman who mattered more than words can fully express.

Jackie's final days do not define her life. Illness may have taken her body, but it cannot take the love she gave, the family she created, or the memories that will live on through her children and grandchildren. Her story does not end with her passing. It continues in every life she touched, every memory spoken, every tear shed, and every moment her family carries her with them.

For those who loved her, Jackie's absence will be felt deeply. But there is also comfort in knowing that her pain has ended, and that she is now beyond the suffering of this life.

Jackie Lyn Taylor was a mother, grandmother, sister, aunt, caregiver, and beloved woman whose life mattered. She was loved. She is missed. And she will never be forgotten.
