“ Julie was a dear friend of mine. In our early days growing up we was always running around together and trying to make it home before 12:00 a.m. So (Bev) Julie’s mom would let her go with me because she knew my mom and dad and we would be in a lot of trouble if we was late so Julie would always make it home on time because I would drop her off and go home. Julie loved to eat good meals. She would tell me when your mom makes beans, fried tators and cornbread call me. I did and she was always right there. She had this funny saying that she had got from watching Lilly Tomlin. She would act like she was getting something out of her bra and making the craziest face and saying one ringy ding, two ringy ding. It was so funny we would all crack up laughing at her. She loved this comedian lady. Look up some of her sayings. Julie done them so good. We missed the years after I moved away but when I came back home I would always try and find time to see her. I was back home in June, July we got to spend time and I am so happy we got to share all of our old stories. She’s going to be missed for sure. Fly high Miss Julie!
