“ Margie was amazing. I brought my 98 yr old mom in to see Margie, I didn't tell Margie any history of my mom's health. My mom had doubts until Margie check her out, and looked at her eye and told her of a accident that injured her neck and back at the age of 19 or so. My mom was shocked. She was a elevator operator at that age and had an accident with the elevator operations injuring her neck and back. I had to smile and just be amazed at her knowledge and how she handled doubters. She tole me of the tragic I had at 7. That is when my dad passed away. I miss her so much. I still cry and miss her so. But I know I will see my friend when I get to heaven.

“Sid” was a good older sister to me. She had an engrained work ethic from our parents. Those 2 parents had such a strong dose of the "dirty thirties" - when 4 of us 6 'brats' were born. Marge, I, and 'some' others made more than our share of blunders. We praised God (and appreciated friends) for the acceptance and merciful forgiveness.
