As hard as it is to lose both parents so close together I know how much they loved each other they may have fought like cats and dogs lol but 40 years is a long time and held on because at the end of the day they really loved one another . As heart breaking ad it is I take comfort in knowing they are no longer suffering and no longer in pain they are now whole again. I pray the are both together fishing in goldend ponds watching over us all until we all meet again ❤️
