“ It is raining like crazy. Has been for a few days most downs are shut down and people being rescued by boats. Low water bridge and the falls of course are under water fish are probably swimming in the streets lol. Wish you were here to see it. I promise you iam taking care of things the best I know how it hasn't been easy but I will do what I csn for you dad. Noah will be fine I promise. I love you so much dad. I nope you know that. Please give mom a hug ok I love you my angel rest at peace dad.

“ I knew Rick from high school. He was a very easy going, fun- loving guy. As things happen in life you tend to lose track of friends as years go by. I did, however, see Rick at Easter services several years ago and we recognized each other immediately. After church, we talked about our families and got caught up. And as in the past, we shared some laughs and then parted ways. Rick was a good man and I share in grieving his loss. God bless you all.

“ Rick was one of the most kindest man I've had the privilege of ever known. He was a great father, a wonderful husband to my dear friend Trudy and truly a good friend. When I lost Cara he came to me right away and offered to be a pallbearer for her. He did so graciously. He was one of a kind and always had a smile on his face. He was a legend and will never be forgotten and always in mine and my family's hearts.
