Gone too soon, your light remains,
a whisper soft in gentle rains,
though time may pass and seasons flee,
your memory stays close to me,
a brother's love, forever near, in quiet thought, you still appear.
Though life must move, and I must go,
I carry you with me in every soul.

PS

“ I met Ron and a couple of his sisters a long time ago. Was not around him a lot but he was always good for an opinion and a laugh, it was done in fun. What a guy he was, never knowing what he was going to say. I remember most slicing potatoes at a campfire at the lake. Such good times. Rest in peace now.
