“ My heart is sad and heavy, hearing this news. Having been consumed with ‘other’ news this week, it did allow me time to reflect on all the ways Sharon touched my life.

I randomly stumbled into the Schultz household during my highly-impressionable high-school days. And lucky me, considering the other ‘impressions’ in my life up to that point were not exactly positive nor remotely memorable (or were memorable for the wrong reasons). Spending time with Sharon (and Kim, and the extended clan that shared the Schultz sphere) was a breath of fresh air. Or more like pure oxygen: invigorating, intoxicating, eye-opening, life-affirming.

Her limitless generosity – always sharing her time, her home, her positive encouragement, her knowledge and experiences, and her resources – stays with me to this day, as I work to make this world a better place.

I owe a large chunk of my quick-witted and wry sense of humor to Sharon, as conversations with her were animated, engaging, mature, and peppered with charm...and they always kept me on my toes. I recall our last phone conversation not that long ago: while her physical faculties may have been failing, I could still hear the ever-present and strong spirit in her voice...

Today, I am most thankful for her aversion to the ‘normal.’ She showed me the value in being different and in appreciating everyone else’s differences. While her life’s actions may have shunned the ordinary, they indeed rendered her extraordinary. Sharon Schultz, it was an honor having known you. You will be missed.

“ I only knew Sharon a short time. However in that short time she shared her passion for reading and gaining knowledge. She encouraged people to take adventures through a book or gain information that would exercise their mind. She was an example of courage through the practice of "It never being to old to learn". I remember hearing how she and her daughter took a series of Geography Lessons together on line.
I will miss her very much. She was an amazing women.
